 To Present Administration and Distinguished Professor of Business Administration. General manager with executive oversight of about 300 employees, all educational programs, budget of about $85 million, and relations with alumni, corporations, donors, and general public.
- 2000 to 2004 Executive Director of the Batten Institute, a foundation with an endowment of about $80 million and staff of 15, residing within the Darden School.
 Responsible for all aspects of direction and administration.

2000 to 2004 Executive Director of the Batten Institute--continued

- Launched the Batten Fellows Program to bring thought-leaders into the Darden community.
- Initiated publication of Batten Briefings, a quarterly publication.
- Eliminated an operating deficit and developed financial sources for the Institute.
- Launched programs to communicate managerial best practices to a wider audience: radio broadcasts, a lecture series, and a tutorial for practitioners.
- Drafted a mission statement that drew the support of the faculty, staff, and leadership of the Darden School.
- Communicated the Institute's purpose and activities to outside constituencies through written channels, public speaking, and the Internet.
- Organized the staff of the Institute, human resources development, and employee recruitment, and conducted annual reviews for compensation and promotion. Drafted job descriptions, policies, and procedures as a basis for administration of the Institute.

1997 to 2000 Chair, Appointments Committee. Led the reviews of 28 candidates for promotion, reappointment, and/or tenure.

1992 to 1995 Chair, MBA Required Curriculum Committee. This committee of 18 faculty and staff planned and coordinated the delivery of the required portion of Darden's MBA curriculum, which included 11 courses and 38 instructors. Initiated a major curriculum redesign effort that emphasized cross-course integration, introduced "reading days," and improved scheduling, examination, and grading practices.

1994 to 1995 Co-Chair, Janus Design Team. The Dean charged this team of five senior professors to engage the faculty in a redesign of the MBA program. The Janus Team presented a proposal for major curriculum redesign in April 1995. Standing committees of the faculty implemented aspects of the proposal.

1987 to 1991 Course Leader, First Year Finance. Substantially redesigned this team-taught required course. Course received highest ratings of all First Year courses.
